About me:

I was quick to make my decision to attend Wayne State University on a full scholarship, and I've never looked back. Along with a quality education, Wayne State set me on my path of employment thanks to the countless dedicated community members, influential educators, and opportunities to become involved with programs that spoke to my passion of food.

I initially started my undergraduate studies planning to work in medicine/healthcare and found my calling in food systems in 2014. I've been very fortunate to work in a variety of roles in the field and have developed a comprehensive knowledge of many aspects of food systems, including food productions, policy, access, and particularly farmers markets. If you want to discuss student life at Wayne State, life in Detroit, or work in food systems please reach out!
